* Other themes are allowed! This is just a list to start you thinking.

Here are some other ideas that you might want to consider.

- Character earns skins/skills/potions/weapons to be used in a future game. Basically, your game would be used before another game to set up the character's abilities.
- Character has to make choices towards planning an event. Costs are calculated. Have to stay within a budget. I've seen this done as buying supplies for a camping trip, planning a wedding or purchasing options for a car.
- Character is a participant on a game show (the Price is Right was the example I remember)
- The character is trapped and must escape. An escape room.
- The character is attempting to sneak into an area they shouldn't be to spy on someone. Hacking and safe cracking occurs.
- Isekai situation: the character has been teleported to another world and must complete something.
- Apocalypse situation: something dire (alien invasion, zombies, technology collapse) has hit the earth.
- Transported back in time.
- NPC that provides background and assistance.

Pick a theme (or at least a location) for your RPG.
